VOL. XIII. NO. 51.

GREENVILLE, KY., THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 1, 1912.

50c. PER YEAR, IN ADVANCE

GOPHERS ARE CAUSE OF MUCH INJURY TO THE ALFALFA CROP

Many Other Field Crops Are Damaged by Little Animals in Many Parts of the West—Poisoned Food Being Introduced Below the Surface Eliminates Danger to All Stock.

(By T. J. HEADLEE, Kansas.)

Like most important field crops alfalfa constantly suffers from the attacks of many kinds of hungry creatures. Roots, stems, foliage, flowers and seeds serve to fill countless empty stomachs and to support myriads of living things. Most of the creatures which rely wholly or in part on alfalfa for their food are either useful or too scarce to do appreciable damage, but occasionally some one species appears in such numberless hordes that the crop of large sections is devoured and great havoc is wrought.

No other animal attacking the underground parts of alfalfa can equal or even closely approach the gopher in destructiveness. It has proven one of the most formidable mammalian pests with which alfalfa growers have had to contend. Kansas alone suffers a loss of fully $500,000 yearly. This damage is not directly in the destruction of the alfalfa plant so much as it is in the interference with the work of cutting the crop and the loss by reason of having to cut the plant far above the ground, to avoid running into the mounds thrown up by the gophers. This loss amounts to about one-tenth of the entire crop. Besides the damage to alfalfa, there is a similar one to clover, timothy and native meadows, and the direct destruction of vegetable gardens and other crops. The gopher has the external cheek pouches, strong lower jaws, fore feet strongly developed for digging, and very small eyes and ears.

The gopher tunnels hither and thither in search of food, at intervals digging short lateral burrows to the surface through which it pushes the excavated earth and dumps it outside, thus forming the mounds that indicate its presence and mark its progress. These animals are most active during the fall and spring, and one individual may throw up several mounds daily for several weeks at a time. During these seasons the work of a few gophers in an alfalfa field may cause the untold loss to suppose the field infested by dozens. Although the animals are most active at these times they work only less vigorously throughout the rest of the year. Even in winter, whenever the ground is sufficiently free from frost, they throw up mounds here and there.

Many experiments in destroying the pocket gophers have been made, principally with gases, traps and poison, the results of which prove convincingly that the most effective and economical method of dealing with this pest is by means of poison introduced into food and placed in their runways.

Pocket gophers are easily poisoned. They are very fond of common potatoes, sweet potatoes, apples, raisins and prunes. The presence of strychnine, arsenic or other poisons does not seem to deter them from eating the food; but if the poison is sweetened they seem to eat it more readily. In summer it may be desirable to take the trouble to sweeten the poison, but in the fall and early spring it does not seem worth while to do this. The poisoned food being introduced to the burrows below the surface, there is no danger of poisoning stock. It might be well, however, not to let swine run in the alfalfa fields for a time after the poison has been put out.

Cut the potatoes or other food into pieces not more than three-fourths of an inch in diameter. Cut a slit in each piece and with the point of the knife blade insert a little sulphate of strychnine; as much as half the bulk of a grain of wheat will answer the purpose. The moisture from the potato will cause the poison to adhere to the blade. Prepare the bait in sufficient quantity before going to the field.

Whatever sort of bait may be used, success depends upon introducing it into fresh runways. Choose fresh-looking mounds and prod on the line between them with a wagon wheel or sharp-pointed broom handle to locate the runway; or, failing there, prod about the freshest mounds. The sudden giving of the soil and the apparent loosening of the stick in it is sufficient to show that the runway has been located. Remove the prod and drop a teaspoonful of the poisoned bait into the burrow, leaving the hole open. Level the mounds with some sort of a drag, and as soon as new ones appear locate the burrows and put poison into them.

In case the area to be treated is large some sort of a special instrument for locating the runways is desirable. A very good one can be made from a spade handle by covering the pointed end with iron and fastening a foot rest about 15 inches above the point.

By the use of the means just described the enterprising farmer can rid his land of gophers and keep them free of it. Once the farm is freed, the vigilance and prompt treatment necessary to keep it so will require but little time and effort.

CONCRETE POST NEVER WEARS OUT

Heavy, Smooth Wire May be Used For Reinforcing Them—Most Concrete Forms Are Triangular.

Concrete fence posts never wear out. To make them, forms of wood or metal are used. Where various forms are required, as corner post, brace post or gate post, probably wood forms are the cheaper. In case a large number of posts of one kind is to be used, metal forms are more desirable. They are lighter, more easily handled, and last longer than wooden forms. They also give a better surface finish to the concrete.

There are several kinds of reinforcement. Perhaps the best is the commercial rods placed on the market for concrete reinforcing. The most common materials for this purpose are heavy, smooth wire and galvanized barbed wire.

Most forms for concrete posts are triangular. Owing to its shape, and having reinforcement in each corner, this post is almost as strong as a square one, and to make it requires less material and labor than for a square one.

The mixture of concrete depends upon where the post is to be used. One part cement to four of sand is good. For posts in isolated places, not subject to strain, a mixture of one to five is sufficient. Those used in a corral or around farm buildings where stock is kept are subject to constant strain and a mixture of one to three is preferable. This gives a more dense material when hard.

Protecting Wounds on Trees. Whenever a large limb is sawed from the tree the wound should be at once covered with wax or thick paint.

Scrubs Don't Pay. "Scrubs" breeds on the farm are very likely to keep you down to a scrub bank account.

EXCELLENT FOR HAULING WOOD

Two Pieces of Strong Timber Arranged to Serve as Rack—Very Easy to Construct.

Take two four-by-five pieces of very strong wood 11 to 12 feet long, and cut a notch in each, so as to fit down over hind bolster of the wagon to prevent the rack from slipping backward or forward, says the Homestead. Use four or six standards on each side and the same number of crosspieces, so placed that the standard in going down through the socket catches against the end of the crosspiece, as shown in the accompanying sketch.

Rack for Hauling Wood.

Make the standards three and a half feet long. They may be cut off after they are desired. Make the standard sockets from old wagon tires to admit a standard one and a half by four inches and with holes for one-half-inch bolts. Bolt all crosspieces firmly. Have wagon near by when making the rack, and place the rack so far forward that in turning the front wheels will just miss the end.

Indiana Owns a Few Horses. There are 1,176,250 horses owned in the state of Indiana. This includes both horses and mules. The value placed on the whole is $143,871,500. This is the greatest record ever furnished by the Hoosier state, the average being $123 per head.

Cheap Fruit. Some farmers say it is cheaper to buy fruit than to raise it, but these are the men whose tables fruit is seldom seen.

A Clean Man

Outside cleanliness is less than half the battle. A man may scrub himself a dozen times a day, and still be unclean. Good health means cleanliness not only outside, but inside. It means a clean stomach, clean bowels, clean blood, a clean liver, and new, clean, healthy tissues. The man who is clean in this way will look it and act it. He will work with energy and think clean, clear, healthy thoughts.

He will never be troubled with liver, lung, stomach or blood disorders. Dyspepsia and indigestion originate in unclean stomachs. Blood diseases are found where there is unclean blood. Consumption and bronchitis mean unclean lungs.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery

prevents these diseases. It makes a man's insides clean and healthy. It cleans the digestive organs, makes pure, clean blood, and clean, healthy flesh.

It restores tone to the nervous system, and cures nervous exhaustion and prostration. It contains no alcohol or habit-forming drugs. Constipation is the most unclean uncleanness. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative cures it. They never gripe. Easy to take as candy.

Fish Hawk on Display.

A rare and interesting sight has for a week attracted the attention of the passer-by on Main street. Early last October Mr. J. A. Gilman, manager of the Greenville Light & Water Co., killed a fine specimen of fish hawk at the lake. The bird had been noticed about the lake for some weeks, and frequently was seen to rise with a fish in its talons. After Mr. Gilman had killed the bird, he carried his prize to Orion L. Roark, manager of the J. L. Roark Estate, and kindly offered it to be embalmed, which was done. The result was satisfactory, the hawk is posed on a rustic branch, and the window in Roark's store is attracting much attention. This is one of several specimens prepared and displayed by Mr. Roark during the past decade, but on account of its close resemblance to our "Bird of Liberty" the American eagle, arouses the greatest interest.

Found Dead in Her Home.

Rhoda Myrtle, wife of Mr. E. L. Bishop, of Oakland, was found dead on the floor by her husband when he returned home at 3 o'clock last Friday afternoon. He left after dinner, when his wife was in her usual health, though she had not been well for some time. A baby of a few weeks was asleep on the bed, and another child, a daughter of five or six, told her father that "mother is sleeping." As soon as he reached the body he knew she was dead, for the body was cold, and death had evidently occurred at least two hours before. The community was greatly shocked by the sad death, and the father and children were rendered every assistance by their neighbors. Burial was in the Jagoe graveyard last Saturday afternoon, and there was a large attendance.

Iowa "Hornets" Wish to Meet Old Foes.

The ninth reunion of the "Iowa Hornets' Nest Brigade" will be held on the battle field of Shiloh at Pittsburg Landing, Tenn., April 6 and 7, 1912. We extend to the Courier-Journal a cordial invitation to meet with us on that occasion. And we extend a most cordial invitation to all the old Confederate veterans who fought so gallantly and heroically on Shiloh's bloody field a half century ago. We want all the survivors of that battle, and especially those who were engaged in those terrific assaults on the "Hornets' Nest."

We want you to come and bring your families and we will give you the warmest reception we know how to give to make your visit pleasant. Would the Courier-Journal please have your southern exchanges as far as possible to publish this invitation? Yours respectfully,

J. E. CAMPBELL,
Secy. Seventh Iowa Infantry,

In the Sunday School basket ball league the Presbyterians defeated the Baptists by a score of 18 to 12. The standing now is as follows:

	Phys.	Won	Lost	Per Ct.
Pres.	1	1	0	1000
Bapt.	2	1	1	500
Meth.	0	0	1	000

The Methodists and the Presbyterians play this week. The games are open to the public. A good crowd witnessed the game last week. Come out and cheer the boys.

OWENSBORO VS. GREENVILLE

On last Saturday night the Greenville team won another game, defeating the Owensboro team by a score of 33 to 24. It was an excellent game, and was played very fast. The teams were equally matched, and the Greenville boys won by showing a greater amount of speed and endurance.

For Greenville Pannell threw 4 field goals and 3 foul goals; Kirkpatrick 2 field goals; Sumner 9 field goals, and Smith and Puryear, guards, allowed their men to get 4 and 2 goals each.

The Greenville team will go to Owensboro on March 1st, and play a return game. The team is working hard, strengthening up all weak points, and expect to defeat the fast Owensboro team again.

Court of Appeals Sustains Council.

The Court of Appeals handed down an opinion a few weeks ago of special interest to the citizens of Greenville, the case being that of D. E. Harrison against the City of Greenville.

It will be remembered that in August, 1910, the City Council passed an ordinance requiring the construction of 160 feet of sidewalk in front of the property of Harrison at the foot of the Depot hill on the West side of Main Street, and requiring its construction to be done at the expense of the property owner. Harrison refused to comply with the ordinance and the contract was let to Green & Marks who began the work of excavation, when Harrison filed suit claiming the strip of ground on which the walk was being laid as his own, and seeking an injunction. The City answered his petition claiming that the strip had been used by the public as a passageway for a number of years and had therefore been dedicated to the City as a part of the public ways. Harrison in testifying admitted that before the passage of the ordinance he had set his fence back off of the land in controversy for the purpose of giving the land to the City on which to have a walk built. Judge Sandidge held this to have been a dedication of the land for that purpose and refused to grant the injunction sought. Harrison secured judgement for $25 for damages to his fence, but appealed to the Court of Appeals on the other questions involved. The Court of Appeals, by Judge Miller, upheld the lower Court, saying that the evidence of Harrison himself was sufficient to sustain the judgement of Judge Sandidge in the lower Court. As a result of the litigation Harrison is at considerable expense in addition to the expense of constructing the walk.

The Courts have always given City Councils a wide latitude in exercising their discretion about ordering sidewalks constructed, and unless that discretion is palpably abused the Courts will not interfere with its exercise. This is the third case in which the City was a party which was taken to the Court of Appeals within the last year and a half, the city winning all of them.

Madisonville returned her position in the prohibition ranks by a vote of 148 majority, in the election held there Jan. 21. The campaign was closely contested, and every influence was employed by the whiskey men, especially, but they lost by a heavier vote than that which decided against them three years ago.

This weather matter will be settled for good or bad right away now, as tomorrow is ground hog day, and his hogship is supposed to forecast the weather for the six weeks following.

Messrs. O'Bryan & Moore have contracted to build a 40x100 foot livery barn on the lot adjoining the Mayhugh shop. The building will be of brick, and will be modern in every particular. Mr. N. F. SICKLY CHILD

Made Well By Vinol—Letters from a Grateful Mother

New Haven, Conn.—"My little girl, ever since her birth, was frail and sickly and nothing seemed to do her any good until we tried your cod liver and iron tonic, Vinol. As soon as she commenced to take it, I noticed an improvement in her health and appearance. She has now taken three bottles of Vinol, and from the good it has done her I can say it will do all you claim for it in building up and strengthening frail and delicate children." (Name furnished on request.)

Another mother of Greenville, Ill., writes: "I can not say too much in praise of Vinol for delicate, ailing children."

We ask every mother of a frail, sickly or ailing child in this vicinity to try Vinol on our agreement to return their money if it does not do all we claim.

The Owensboro boys must have felt themselves in a sorry plight when they arrived home Sunday morning, as the Messenger had double headed the news that they had won the game of basket ball played here Saturday night with our boys. How trying to explain your defeat when you are being heralded as a victor. That must have been double punishment for the fellows.

Many farmers are clamoring for permanent roads, having become tired of the temporary work that has been done in times past. It is believed that if the county will buy the stone that farmers will do the hauling and this should be done. If the $12,000 to $15,000 spent each year on the roads was put in stone, there would be many miles of good roads built each year, and with a few miles in use it would be no trouble then to secure universal support of a sufficient tax to build such roads all over the main traveled avenues.

Ellis Ford Assaulted.

About 7:30 o'clock last Monday night, at the factory of H. N. Martin, Ellis Ford was choked, clubbed and beaten by "Muffin" Mitchell and Moorman Salsbury, two colored boys. Ford was in charge of the stemming room, and when these boys came around and began talking to the hands who were working, Ford ordered them from the room, as it is against the rules for any except employees to be in the work room. The boys demurred, but finally left the room. Ford in a few minutes went to the front door, and found the boys standing there. He ordered them to leave the premises, and pushed one of the boys out, when both of them jumped on him, one of them striking and choking him and the other clubbing him across the head with a stick. He called for help, when some of the people came out and the boys ran away. Ford was cut and bruised, but was not seriously injured. Mitchell waived an examining trial and was held to the grand jury, giving bond of $300. Salsbury is still at large.

Agricultural Experiment Station.

A man from the State Agricultural Department will be here next week, expecting to close up on the experimental station to be opened here in connection with the high school. Prof. C. C. Haden is rounding matters up at this end of the line, and has secured options on several pieces of land. It is proposed to buy the land, and the necessary funds are assured. This will be one of the most important developments ever started in the county, and everyone should help to the utmost. For every dollar invested there will be many dollars returned, in the way of general and important knowledge as to reclaiming, preparing and cultivating the soil, rotation of crops, fertilization, selection of seeds, etc.

We leave it to you to say how good is our furniture polish. We know it is the best we can buy, and sell under a guarantee. It not the best you ever used, return and get your money quick—and pleasantly.

EXCELLENT TRAP FOR MINK
Illustration Shows One Also Found Efficacious for Raccoons, Opossums, Skunks and Muskrats.

(By J. W. GRIFFIN.)
A limb of sound wood, with a hollow two to three inches in diameter, with horseshoe nails driven as shown in the sketch, makes a good trap for minks, raccoons, opossums, skunks and muskrats.
The bait should be about six inches beyond the point of the nails, therefore, if the hollow runs the full length of the piece, it should be plugged up at one end.
Drive a staple in the limb and wire it to a stake or small tree.
You may carry it with the animal alive to hole of water and drown it; to release the animal, draw the nails.
The nails should be very sharp and should form a circle with their points about one and one-half inches in diameter for mink.
This makes an ideal trap for coons—when the hole is smaller—for the Good Mink Trap.

coon thrusts its claws into small holes, and under chunks and rocks, in search of food.
Bait for fur animals: blue, mice, raw beef, pieces of rabbit or muskrat.
Leave everything around the trap in as natural position as possible.
Do not go near the trap when once set, any more than you can help, as the animal's sense of smell is very keen.

NEW SILO GAINS POPULARITY

Material From Which These Huge Tanks Are Built Is Hard Burned, Hollow Clay Building Blocks.

(By A. G. KITTEL.)
A new type of silo that is gaining favorable mention in many parts of the country where it has been tried out is the tile built style, of which the "Iowa" silo is a good representative. The material from which these silos are built is a hard burned, hollow clay building block, an the building as well as users are claiming a list of advantages for them over other types. One of the chief advantages, they say, is that it retains moisture better than most of the other kinds, and this is one of the fundamental principles in preserving silage. The silo wall must be as nonporous as it is possible to make it. Steel reinforcement is laid in the mortar joints, thus making this plan of silo resist all outward pressure from the silage inside, and performing the same service that hoops do on stave silos. Being built of hollow blocks such a silo is particularly frost resistant, and this feature is one that is quite important where there is much freezing weather in winter. Doors are made of wood, and about all the care and repair a tile silo needs after being put up right is to replace the doors when these have rotted, and to give the inside wall a cement wash about once in four or five years.

THIS GATE WILL NOT SAG

Clevis and Swivel Bolt, Which Any Blacksmith Can Make, Will Be Sufficient to Take Up Slack.

This Gate Won't Sag.

Excess to hold up any gate found on the farm.
The swivel bolt which screws into the post should be placed far enough from the top hinge of the gate so as to be turned conveniently to take up the slack in the wire.

Manure Spreader.

Where there is much manure to be put on grass land, it will pay to have a spreader that will do the work so much more satisfactory. Two adjoining farmers can own one together and thus lessen the cost.

Time for Mulching.

The time to mulch anything for winter protection is after the ground has become chilled to a considerable depth. If it is frozen, so much the better.

Time for Soil Acidity.

Most of the lime now used is for the correction of soil acidity, and by many farmers this reason for application seems the most profitable.
